The Opportunity

Who are we looking for?

We are looking for a motivated and experienced Senior Landscape Architect to join our Design team in Southwark. This is an opportunity to work with a wide range of in-house professionals on projects which combine the skills of ecologists, arboriculturalists, land managers and landscape planners alongside those of our friendly and talented design team.

We have a broad range of clients across the UK working on a variety of projects through all RIBA work stages. We have built a strong reputation for delivering high quality residential landscape projects in London, Cambridge, Oxford and the home counties. Successful delivery of these schemes has opened new opportunities in associated sectors, including for The Royal Parks, Eden Project North and RHS Bridgewater. We are continually developing our work across other sectors and the right candidate for this job will play an active role in winning new work, as well as leading on project delivery.

Role and Requirements

As an experienced Landscape Architect, you will have gained at least four years' experience in private practice or the public sector, be confident in your ability to lead and co-ordinate design projects, and have the confidence to mentor and enthuse less experienced staff.

You will be expected to develop strong relationships with clients and colleagues, trusted to deliver high quality work and to monitor project programmes and budgets.

You will work collaboratively to design schemes which deliver nature-based solutions for climate change, such as Biodiversity Net Gain, SuDS, urban greening and ecological and arboricultural mitigation.

You will be a team player with strong design skills; versatile and able to collaborate effectively with other professionals.

You will be able to confidently meet and present ideas to local authority officers, design review panels or other steering groups. You will be a good communicator, able to hold your ground in project team meetings and experienced in co-ordinating with architects and engineers.

You will be proficient at report writing, and with strong drafting and graphic skills. You will be highly proficient in AutoCAD, Adobe Creative Suite and be confident in your ability to communicate design ideas in 2D and 3D. Experience with Autodesk Revit and in delivering BIM compliant projects is desirable.
